

Bang for Your Buck Wines

I am always in search of really good wines that are inexpensive. Spending a lot of money on wines every now and then is great but if you like to drink wine with dinner often or bring a bottle to a friend's house for a visit, you don't necessarily need to go broke doing so. Here are some of my great finds and you really can't tell that they are under $15! Cheers!

Vega Sindoa, Chardonnay, Cabernet, and Merlot – $6.99-$9.99. The Chardonnay is my favorite and I compare it to Rombauer, which is a $40 bottle.

Red Truck, California Red – $7.99

Bogle, Reds & White – $7.99-$9.99. The Bogle Phantom is outstanding, a bit more in cost at $16.99 but well worth it. It's hard to find.

J. Lohr, Reds & White – $11.99-$12.99

ApothicRed, 2012. $12.00. Ivory overtones, maple undertones, hints of cranberry, brandy-like finish.
