

Tip of the Month - 4/1/2015

When a recipe calls for butter that's been melted and cooled, melt just a little over half of the amount called for in the microwave, then stir in the remaining butter. The heat from the melted butter will melt the rest as the added butter cools down the entire mixture.

